

Thursday, January 29. 2009

Creativity and effectiveness in family therapy

mit einem Fokus auf Psychotherapieforschung geht das Journal of Family Therapy in den neuen Jahrgang 2009. Der neue Herausgeber Mark Rivett schreibt in seinem Editorial: "I begin my editorship of the Journal with a collection of articles which will probably summarize the zeitgeist of the field for the next five years or so. This zeitgeist challenges all family therapists to respond to the constraints of evidence-based practice with the creativity and aplomb that has been the enduring feature of our form of psychotherapy." Hoffen wir, dass dem "zeitgeist" widerstanden werden kann. Zu den vollständigen abstracts...

Posted by Tom Levold in Zeitschriften at 00:00